To whom it may concern,

I bought an apartment two years ago in Robert Donald's latest 'Eleven' development at Mt Maunganui.

The building appealed to me with its striking exterior and its air of timeless elegance.

Internally it contains all of Dr Donald's trademark quality features – full height doors, floor-to-ceiling windows, coffered ceilings, generous room proportions, good circulation space, and a general ambience of understated quality.

I expect this building to give good service to its owners well into the future. The real test was that even though it came onto the market during a very difficult world recession, in the end it shone through and all the apartments were sold. The other owners I talk to occasionally, seem very happy with their purchase.

All my life I have to search the world looking for items to sell that are rare and stand the test of time (not a fad). I sell objects of art, and people say I have a good eye. That's why museums, libraries, art galleries and serious collectors bid at my auctions.

I highly recommend the services of Robert Donald.

Kind regards,
Dunbar Sloane Snr
